

Counselling Service

Thomas Pocklington Trust is working in collaboration with Wandsworth CCG to provide a free counselling service for people with a visual impairment.

This service is being offered from three Wandsworth locations; Roehampton, Balham and Putney.

Those interested in using the service will receive an initial assessment with our qualified counsellor to ensure the service is right for them.

10 one hour sessions of counselling will be arranged then reviewed on a case by case basis.

Counselling is available for individuals, couples or families.

Many treatment methods will be available depending on need and preference. The counsellor will ensure the service fits the individual not the other way round.

Our counsellors are equipped to deal with many areas of concern and are not limited to discussions on visual impairment.

If you are interested in using this service please contact the Service Coordinator on: 020 3757 8042/07812 738131
